

ANDREW JAQUES

Andrew Jaques is senior regulatory consultant with more than 30 years of experience managing a broad range of environmental, health and safety programs for the chemical and petroleum industries. Mr. Jaques currently manages the Acrylonitrile Group, the Chlorinated Paraffins Industry Association, the Polymer and Polymer Additives Council, and the Vinyl Acetate Council; all based in Washington, DC.

Prior to working with these associations, from 1998 to 2008 Mr. Jaques managed a variety of chemical panels for the American Chemistry Council covering products such as hydrocarbon and oxygenated solvents, aromatics, and petroleum additives. From 1991 to 1998, Mr. Jaques worked at the American Petroleum Institute in several positions addressing occupational and environmental health, hazard communication, industrial hygiene, safety, and fire protection for the petroleum industry.

Mr. Jaques attended Drew University in Madison, NJ for undergraduate studies and the George Washington University School of Public Health in Washington, DC for graduate studies.