

Lianna Miller

Lianna Miller is an expert in EPD automation, life cycle assessment, and impact benchmarking for infrastructure construction materials. In her position at WAP Sustainability, a full-service sustainability consulting group, she specializes in working with pavement materials companies, industry associations, and related agencies. Her training is in mechanical and biomedical engineering but she hopes you won't hold that against her.