

Andy Hilton
SVP & Chief Communications Officer
GAF

Andy Hilton is Senior Vice President and Chief Communications Officer for GAF, the world's largest roofing materials manufacturer. In this role, he is responsible for all aspects of the company's corporate communications and social responsibility efforts, including sustainability and community engagement. He joined GAF in 2018.

Prior to GAF, Andy led communications for ADP, an HR technology and services leader. In this role, he led an integrated communications, content marketing, brand and events team responsible for shaping ADP's corporate narrative. He joined ADP in 2014.

Before ADP, Andy led communications and corporate marketing for the Water Solutions business of Xylem Inc., based in Stockholm, Sweden. Xylem was created following its spinoff from ITT Corporation in October 2011. Prior to the spin-off, Andy led ITT's corporate public relations function. He joined ITT in 2007.

Andy began his communications career working for 10 years with two great public relations agencies, Ketchum and Peppercomm. He is a proud Syracuse University alumnus.
