

Nam Tran, Ph.D., P.E., MBA

Dr. Nam Tran is Associate Director and Research Professor at the National Center for Asphalt Technology (NCAT) at Auburn University. He leads research on asphalt recycling, balanced mix design, and innovative technologies that improve pavement durability, sustainability, and cost-effectiveness. His work on incorporating recycled asphalt shingles (RAS) into paving applications provides practical guidance to agencies and industry for building durable and sustainable pavements.